

ACH Authorization Instructions

This form is used to request ACH Standing Instructions linking your brokerage account and your bank account.

Based on your selections, the use of this form will result in transfer of funds electronically between the brokerage and bank/credit union accounts. No additional paperwork, with the exception of an IRA Distribution Form to move money from a Pershing as Custodian Retirement Account, will be required to move funds between the bank account and brokerage account. No notice is given to the bank account holder that funds are being removed from the account.

As You Complete This Form:

- Please refer to the included instructions. Incorrectly completing this form may result in incorrect processing.
- If you are requesting a Periodic Distribution out of your Pershing as Custodian Retirement account, please ensure to complete the IRA Distribution Form.
- Please be certain the proper supporting documentation for the bank account is enclosed with the completed paperwork.

After Completing This Form:

- Please return the completed ACH Authorization Agreement form to your investment professional or financial organization. This request must be processed within 60 days of your signature and date.
 - You may keep a copy of the form for your reference.

Step 1. Account Information

Please ensure your Pershing account number is listed in step one. A completed ACH Authorization Agreement is required for each brokerage account. Step 1 also requires your brokerage account title to be populated.

Step 2. Bank/Credit Union Information

This section indicates if the bank details are initial ACH set up or an adjustment of previous instructions. It is important to note that the approval process is not impacted by the selection made here.

The ABA(routing number), DDA(bank account number), bank name and account type are required fields that must be filled out. Note that in some cases the bank provides a separate ABA for ACH, which is often printed beside or below the logo on a check. Please review the supporting document carefully to ensure you provide the correct ABA.

Step 3. Standing Instructions

To save banking information for future on-demand use, select the applicable option. Standing Instructions require bank name, account name, ABA, and DDA at initial setup.

Note: If you would like to setup a periodic recurring payment and also save banking information as a standing instruction, select appropriate check boxes in both standing and periodic sections.

If you make no standing instruction selection, banking information cannot be reused.

Step 4. Periodic Instructions

To setup a recurring periodic payment, select the applicable option(s). Periodic movement of funds requires selections for distribution or contribution type, frequency, dollar amount, and start date.

Note: Periodic Purchase of Mutual Funds, SRS, brings funds in to pay for applicable systematic mutual fund purchases the day before settlement. No dollar amount or start date is required if this option is selected in contribution type. This feature is not available for any Retirement Plan which is not eligible for the participant current year IRA contribution type. Clients with Retirement Plans eligible for the current year IRA contribution type should be aware that this type will only allow the contribution limit, which is based on the client's age, to be pulled over. Once that limit has been reached, the system may reduce the final allowable contribution or not pull funds to cover the mutual fund trade.

Step 5. Attaching Supporting Documentation and Signatures

Acceptable supporting documentation for the bank account includes micro encoded check, deposit slip, or account statement (including the full account name, full account number and bank name, or a letter written by an employee of the bank providing the full account name, number and routing number). This letter must be on bank letterhead, signed by an employee of your bank. This provision is in place to protect your accounts against fraud.

Checks numbered under 100, starter, bill pay, or printer checks are unable to be accepted as support of the bank account.

Additional supporting documentation may be requested in order to activate the link between the two accounts. This documentation could include, but is not limited to: trust documents, death certificates (in cases where one party on a joint account is deceased), and bank letters (confirming signing authority on bank accounts which are entities).

To establish bidirectional instructions allowing for movement of assets both into and out of your Pershing account, or deposit only instructions for movement of assets into your Pershing brokerage account, all parties on both the bank and brokerage accounts are required to sign the form.

To establish withdrawal only instructions allowing for movement of assets from your Pershing account, only the signatures of the brokerage account parties are required.

Based on the selections made, signature and submission of this form is authorization to move funds to, from, or both to and from the linked bank account with no additional scrutiny from your financial professional or Pershing.

No additional paperwork is required, with the exception of IRA Distribution forms in some cases.
